Conference Update

IACP Net representatives will showcase the benefits of IACP Net at two conferences in March. Please visit us in booth #517 at the 2008 California Police Chiefs Association Conference in Fresno, California, March 4-5, 2008. We will also be exhibiting at the CALEA Spring Conference in Atlanta, Georgia, March 12-13, 2008, in booth #3. Stop by to learn more about using IACP Net or to let us know how IACP Net helps you.

Strategic Plans

Many of your peers are interested in examples of strategic plans and we would be happy to include these within our database. Please send examples of your performance evaluations to info@login-inc.com or fax to 651.222.6577. We appreciate your help!

IACP Net Alert highlights some recent additions to the online information resource for the business side of policing, www.iacpnet.com.

If your e-mail is not set to view HTML, you will not see IACP Net Alert properly. Click here to view it online, or contact us at iacpservice@login-inc.com or call 800.227.9640. Because IACP Net is a secured website, links are not available to the following information, but we have a direct link to the sign-in page at the end of this newsletter.

"New Study May "Radically Alter" How Police Deadly Force Is Viewed"

The story is a frequent staple of the evening news. An officer shoots and kills a minority subject who turns out to be...unarmed. Protests explode, and the familiar litany is again asserted: racial bias by the cops underlies many of these inflammatory events. Now a new study by a member of the Force Science Research Center's national advisory board confirms what law enforcement officials have argued all along: Such controversial shootings aren't about race. What really prompts an officer to pull the trigger in circumstances that are rapidly evolving and uncertain is the suspect's behavior. This document is located in the Core Database under document #596332.

"700 MHz Transition: The Countdown Begins"

Next year's spectrum transition is a major milestone for emergency response operations -- representing the second largest allocation of spectrum for emergency response use the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has ever made. With the exception of some channels already licensed directly to the states, the 700 MHz spectrum will be available to local and state emergency response agencies for licensing only if their region has an FCC-approved 700 MHz Regional Plan. The full text of this article can be located in the Core Database under document #596196.

CURRENT AFFAIRS

Free - School Safety CD-ROMs

Law enforcement agencies and school systems can now obtain three important school safety programs at no cost on one CD-ROM. Included are: "A Critical Incident: What to do in the First 20 Minutes," which takes users through a scenario involving a shooter in a high school; "School Crime Operations Package (School COP)," a software program that enables users to enter a daily log of incidents, display incidents involving a particular student quickly, and produce graphics showing school "hot spots" or year-to-year trends; and "School Safety Plan Generator," which allows law enforcement personnel to create a document that serves as a foundation for preparing schools for violent critical incidents and as a reference guide for information needs during a critical incident. For more information on this and other grant opportunities, please see the IACP Net Funding section.

Calendar Location Search

It's now even easier for you to search for items in IACP Net's Calendar section. By using the new City and State fields, you can narrow your search to find only the items of interest to you.

Misplaced IDs and Passwords? Not finding a particular document? Call 800.227.9640 or e-mail at iacpservice@login-inc.com and IACP Net's Customer Service Team will assist you, Monday through Friday from 8:00AM to 5:00PM Central Time.
