The Quest-Response Recognition Program- Only Two Months Left to Qualify!

IACP Net is rewarding one lucky member with a free trip to the 2009 IACP Conference in Denver, Colorado. To register, just respond to two Quests in our Quest-Response section every month through August 2009. For every month that you submit two or more Responses, you'll receive an entry into our drawing for up to $1,000 in reimbursed travel expenses and one paid conference registration, up to $350. Log in today and assist other departments by answering a Quest or two. For complete rules, please see the Quest-Response Recognition Program information sheet, available on the site.

Conference Update

IACP Net representatives will showcase the benefits of IACP Net at the FBI NAA Conference in Louisville, Kentucky, July 25-26, 2009. Stop by booth #205 to learn how to maximize your IACP Net membership, or to let us know how IACP Net benefits you and your department.

July Fourth Holiday Hours

IACP Net's offices will be closed on Friday, July 3, 2009 for the July Fourth holiday. We wish you a safe and happy Independence Day.

Community Policing: Looking to Tomorrow

This document presents the current state of community policing according to police chiefs and other police leaders who attended community policing roundtable meetings. Section I presents these police leaders' views about what community policing looks like today and the challenges it faces, and summarizes their predictions about how community policing may evolve in the future. Section II provides suggestions, based on the meetings, about how police departments and city leaders can work together to enhance their community policing efforts and continue to strive to take community policing to the next level. The full text of this article is located in the Core Database under document #605827.

Collaborating to Prevent and Reduce Youth Gang Involvement

With youth gang membership on the rise across the country, police departments and community groups are trying a range of approaches to deter young people from joining gangs and to prevent the violence and crime that stems from gang activity. The full text of this article is located in the Core Database under document #605859.

NETWORKING

Social Networks and Law Enforcement
