What's New on IACP Net?

Pursuits: Data That Drives Safety

LogIn, Inc. -- producer of IACP Net and Pursuits -- has published a comprehensive report that analyzes pursuit data and is immediately available exclusively to IACP Net and Pursuits members. "Pursuits: Data That Drives Safety" provides a thorough analysis of more than 1700 pursuit records entered into Pursuits, LogIn's web-based pursuit tracking tool, from 2009 and 2010. Data analyzed surrounding each pursuit includes: initial violation, environmental conditions, termination, officer and suspect information, injuries and fatalities, property damage, and more. The full document, including a PDF version, is located in the Core Database under document #617010.

Quest-Response Recognition Program -- Qualify Today!

The Quest-Response Recognition Program continues on, providing IACP Net members a chance for up to $1,000 to reimburse travel expenses as well as one paid conference registration up to $350 for the 2011 IACP Conference in Chicago, IL. IACP Position Paper on Alarm Management

When considering the balance between community expectations, overall public safety, limited resources and IACP recommended initiatives such as Community Policing, the IACP has determined the following elements/best practices should be considered in any Alarm Management Program, by ordinance and/or Department policy. This document is located in the Core Database under document #616834.

Officer Involved Shooting Investigations

This policy is from the Beacon, New York, Police Department Policy and Procedure Manual. It is the policy of this department to investigate officer involved shooting incidents with the utmost thoroughness, professionalism and impartiality to determine if an officer's actions conform with the law and this agency's policy on the use of force. The full text of this policy can be located in the Policies Database under document #616906.
